Verta Smith Stanley (left), Harriett Clough Koenigseder, of Los Angeles, (center) and Rachel Ferguson Lawson (right) reminisced about old times in a return to the school grounds of Appomattox Agricultural High School, now Appomattox County High School, fifty years after the graduation of Mrs. Stnaley and Mrs. Lawson. Mrs. Koenigseder, then Miss Harriett Clough, was an instructor. She flew here to the reunion of classmates held Sat., May 22 at Maude's.

Golden Class Reunion 1921-1971

Fifty years had lapsed since some members of the 1921 graduating class of the Appomattox Agricultural High School had seen each other until on Saturday, May 22nd, when they met at the home of Mrs. Rachel F. Lawson, before attending a banquet to celebrate their "Golden Class Reunion." What a unique and happy reunion this was!! It was unique in that no one seems to recall a similar occasion when classmates of this long standing, (not old classmates,) have worked up sufficient interest to attempt to contact these friends who were scattered over many states.

The most amazing and rewarding efforts were realized when a favorite teacher of this class, Mrs. G. J. Koenigsder, the former Miss Harriett E. Clough, was traced down near Los Angeles, California. "Miss Clough" who recently retired from a teaching position in California, was delighted to be found and flew here to join her former pupils in their class celebration.

The reunion was a most enjoyable one in that over the period of a half-century the celebrants had not changed so much and were easily recognized by each other.

A dinner was served to members of the class and their guests at Maude's Restaurant with Joe T. Clark, a fellow classmate, of South Boston as host.

Centerpieces of golden flowers decorated the tables. Three separate white roses in bud vases were placed in memorian for the three departed classmates, Mrs. Carolyn Babcock Siegnous, Mrs. Sue Oder Rexrode and Miss Grace Bagby.

The ladies wore golden corsages and the men golden boutonnieres. Golden back autograph and memory books along with a gold colored fountain pen, were given as momentos of the evening.

Seated at the head table was "Miss Clough," the honored guest, Reggie W. Stanley, class president; Mrs. Rachel F. Lawson, class secretary; J. Metteau Carr, Editor-in-Chief of The Agricola, the 1921 school annual; and Joe T. Clark, dinner host.

Mr. Stanley, presided over the long-delayed class meeting. He welcomed the class members and their guests and expressed his appreciation to those who had traveled so far to make this dinner a success. He then gave a hearty welcome to Miss Clugh and crowned her with a Golden Crown as Queen of the Evening. Miss Clough then rang a bell and called the class roll. Those unable to be present had sent congratulatory letters and telegrans.

Knowing that her former pupils were anxious to learn of the high spots in her life for the past fifty years, Miss Clough reviewed her colorful life briefly which was most interesting.

The class poem, was given by author, Miss Nola M. Burkey. Mrs. Sammie Ferguson Furr, of Roanoke read the class will, and Miss Stella Mae Payne read the class history. The class prophecy, written by the late Grace Bagy, was read by Mrs. Lawson. The program was concluded by singing – "She's A Jolly Good Fellow" led by Mrs Marguerite Hancock Gimbert of Virginia Beach.

Members of the class present whose names had not already been mentioned were John C. Caldwell, Mrs. Annie Purdum Ford, and Mrs. Verta Smith Stanley of Appomattox; Thomas Gaines Oglesby and Mrs. Eva Wooldridge Thomas of Lynchburg, Mrs. M. L. Perkins of Southerland, and Miss Josephine Towler of Farmville. Mrs Caldwell, Mrs. Carr and Mrs. Oglesby were present.

Class members who were unable to attend were Dr. Frank E. La Prade of Victoria, John R. Cheatham of Frederick, Maryland, Mrs. J. B. Massie of Callao, Miss Mary E. Booker of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Frances Wagner Darling of Canoga Park, California, and Mrs. Minnie Robertson Williamson of Colonial Heights, Va.

Mrs. Alice Cheatham Babcock of Columbia, S.C., who also taught this class, was unable to attend due to conflicting engagements. A telegram was received from Mrs. Babcock expressing her congratulations and good wishes.

An arrangement of blue and white flowers, the school colors, was used as the centerpiece of a table set up in the same dining room area. Seated at this table were graduates and friends of this high school in yesteryears, including Mr. and Mrs. Cameron W. White and son, Vernon White, of St. Petersburg, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. G. Russell Gimbert of Virginia Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Percy L. Rogers of Front Royal, Mrs. Kathleen Morgan Knox, of Roanoke, and Mrs. Nettie Dresser Martin, Miss Frankie McKinney, Mrs. Florence G. Trent and Mrs. Hazel R. Mann of Appomattox.

Following the dinner and program, classmates and guests from out of town visited homes of local class members for further reminiscences and the evening proved to be most enjoyable from every aspect.

A picture of the class will be published in next week's issue of the Times-Virginian.
